

The Blood of Jesus takes the defense of creatures before the Divine Justice.

"My daughter, let us pray together. We are going through a very sad time!
My Justice, unable to contain itself because of the malice of creatures would like to submerge the earth with new punishments.

Prayer in my Will is therefore necessary:

covering all creatures, it will

- defend them, and
- prevent my Justice from approaching them to punish them.

How touching it was to see Jesus praying!

And as I accompanied him in the painful mystery of his scourging,
He showed himself pouring out his Blood.

I heard Him say:

"Father, I offer you my Blood.

Oh! let It cover the minds of creatures,

- drive away from them the evil thoughts and
 - calm the fire of their passions
- so that their minds may become holy.

Let this Blood cover their eyes so that they will not be seduced

- will not be seduced by evil pleasures and will not be
- not be stained by earthly mud.

Let this Blood fill their mouths and make their lips incapable

- to utter blasphemies, imprecations and any other evil words.

Father, let this Blood cover their hands

so that evil deeds become unbearable for them!

May this Blood flow into our eternal Will to cover all creatures and to defend them for the rights of our Justice.

Who could describe the way Jesus prayed and recall all that He said!

Then He kept silent.

He took my poor soul in his hands, palpating it and examining it. (...) "
