The Desolation of the Virgin Mary (excerpt 2)

And you return to Jerusalem along the same path from which you came.
After only a few steps, You are already before the Cross on which Jesus suffered so much and died. You run to embrace It. You see the Cross colored with Blood.
The pains that Jesus suffered on It are renewed in your Heart, one by one.
You are unable to contain so much pain....

...You exclaim:

*"O Cross, how could You be so cruel with my Son?
Ah, You have spared Him nothing! You have been inflexible!"*

O Cross, cruel, yes, but holy, because divinised and sanctified by the contact with my Son!
Turn that cruelty which You used with Him into compassion for the miserable mortals.
And for the sake of the pains He suffered on You, impetrate grace and strength for the souls who suffer. So that not one of them may be lost because of tribulations and crosses.

*Souls cost Me too much – they cost Me the life of a Son God.
And as Co-Redemptrix and Mother, I bind them to You, O Cross."
And after kissing you, I leave.»...*

Luisa : You see the ground still soaked with His Blood.
You throw Yourself to the ground, and as You kiss that Blood, I hear You say:

"My Angels, come to place yourselves as guardians of this Blood, so that not one drop of It may be trodden upon and profaned."

Luisa : How much compassion I feel for You! You are the true crucified Mother.
Not even your feet remain without nails. You feel them not only being pierced,
But the wounds are torn also by many iniquitous steps, and by the souls who go to hell.
And You run after them, that they may not fall into the infernal flames. My pierced Mama, this is not all..

*All of your pains, uniting together, echo in your Heart and pierce It
-not with seven swords- but with thousands and thousands of swords.
More so, since You have the Divine Heart of Jesus within You.
It contains all hearts. The heartbeats of his Heart enclose the heartbeats of all hearts.*

Each beating says: "Souls! Love!" From the heartbeat "Souls!", -You feel all sins flow in your heartbeat, and death being inflicted on You.
In the heartbeat "Love!", You feel life being given to You.
Therefore, You are in a continuous act of death and of life.
