

The Gospel - Mt 7, 21-29
The house built on the Rock and the house built on the sand

The Book of Heaven

Volume 6 – 1904, July 25

Luisa Piccarreta

The human will falsifies and profanes even the holiest works.

Continuing in my poor state, it seemed that He came more than once.
And I seemed to see Him as a Child, as though surrounded by a shadow.

He said to me:

“My daughter, don’t you feel the freshness of my Shadow?
Rest in it, for you will find refreshment.”

And it seemed that we rested together in his Shadow.
And I felt all reinvigorated being close to Him.

Then He continued:

“My beloved, if you love Me, I do not want you to look
-either inside or outside of yourself,
-at whether you are warm or cold,
-at whether you do much or little, or
-at whether you suffer or enjoy.
All this must be destroyed in you.

You must have your eyes fixed only on whether you do
-as much as you can for Me,
-everything to please Me.

The other ways, as high, sublime and industrious as they might be,
cannot please Me and content my Love.

Oh, how many souls
-falsify true devotion and
-profane the holiest works
with their own will, always seeking themselves.

Even in holy things,
-if one seeks her own way and taste and the satisfaction of herself,
-if she finds herself,
she escapes from God and does not find Him.”

The human will falsifies and profanes the holiest works.

SG-The Divine Will